COMMUNITY RECREATION ENHANCEMENT GRANT

A GRANT PROGRAM

A

INTRODUCTION

The City of Red Deer recognizes the important contribution made by organizations in the provision of sport and recreation opportunities in Red Deer. Through these offerings, individual lives are enhanced, communities come together, health and well-being are attained, diversity of community is fostered and appreciated, jobs are created, spending occurs, and the economy benefits.

This grant has been designed to augment and enhance inclusive sport and recreation activities that need a supportive boost.

The City of Red Deer has the responsibility, through this grant program, to sustain and support sport and recreation within the community. In areas where there are gaps in services and activities, the City may also use this grant program to encourage or seek out opportunities in under-represented areas to encourage diverse sport and recreation opportunities. The City also has the responsibility to administer the grant including the development of the grant process, the administrative systems, and tools that are involved in the program, as well as providing support to applicant groups through the grant process.

A DEFINITION OF RECREATION

Recreation is important. Recreation remains a fundamental human need at all ages and stages in life. People participate in recreation activities for fun, enjoyment, fitness & health, social interaction, creative expression, a desire to connect with nature, relaxation, and to enhance their quality of life. Sport is included in this broad definition of recreation. Sport holds the distinct potential to build local skills, knowledge and resources while also increasing social cohesion, community dialogue, leadership development and civic participation.

“[Recreation is] the experience that results from freely chosen participation. In physical, social, intellectual, creative, and spiritual pursuits that enhance individual and community well-being.”
- Pathways to Well-being: a Framework for Recreation in Canada (2015).

OUTCOMES

By investing City of Red Deer tax dollars in sport and recreation, The City has the responsibility to ensure that this money is invested in services that support researched Recreation & Sport outcomes for individual and community well-being. The City's Social Policy Framework \(SPF\) has a set of community goals that contribute to social well being. Recreation outcomes support these goals. For details on the SPF please visit the City's website.

1 Community Cohesion and Engagement

Recreation gatherings and pursuing interests in one's free time connects people to each other, to their neighbours and helps to build a sense of belonging for individuals, families and community. Pursuing and having access to varied recreation opportunities is fundamental to having a good quality of life.

2 Educational Opportunity and Attainment

Recreation creates opportunities both informally by bringing people together, developing new skills and aptitudes, as well as formal learning through certifications and training at levels across the spectrum.

3 Equitable Services and Access

The provision of recreation facilities and services is a shared commitment from the municipality and non-profit organizations throughout the community. There is broad access to a wide variety of recreation services in facilities and open spaces. Barriers are addressed to ensure equitable access.

4 Health and Basic Needs

Research demonstrates that recreation, active living and sport contribute to the physical, social and mental well-being of individuals, families and communities.

5 Jobs and Wages

Investment in recreation creates jobs, fosters tourism, and makes communities more attractive places to live, learn, work, play and visit. Jobs created include coaching, officiating, management and operation of facilities, and open spaces. This investment stimulates economic growth in our local tourism industry, supporting people travelling to compete, recreate in the outdoors, and spectate at events. Volunteering in recreation develops essential skills and interpersonal networks that can lead to employment.

OUTCOMES

6 Resilience

Participation in recreation activities allows social connection, improves health & wellbeing, and provides meaningful interactions. All factors that support individual and community resiliency.

7 Poverty Prevention and Reduction

Access to free or low cost recreation activities is an important part of the recreation delivery in Red Deer. Programs and services provided to waive fees, subsidize fees, or provide additional supports to participants is a key part of the recreation delivery system. The contribution made by volunteers continues to reduce the actual costs of service delivery in diverse recreation programming. This contribution reduces the cost of delivery to Red Deer residents.

8 Safety

Bringing together people through recreation activities creates a social connection and builds a sense of belonging. When neighbours know each other, there is an increased likelihood of safety within the community.

9 Social and Cultural Diversity

People of all origins can benefit by becoming involved in recreation. Efforts to reduce social and cultural barriers and provide safe and encouraging access to recreation are crucial to supporting this diversity.

THE RESOURCE

The City of Red Deer Recreation Department awards approximately $100,000 per year through the Community Recreation Enhancement Grant. Maximum application amount: $5,000 per application, per intake.
